Location: NIH Natcher Staff:	Dates: March 31, 2001

Comments/Problems

"The location was wonderful. The display stand for publications was excellent. It was the 'stepped' variety with about 6 vertical racks and has the potential for holding a nice variety of handbook-size pubs. The rack itself was a great improvement over last year. The floor display got people's attention, and it left lots of room on the table. One person commented that the pubs were an excellent use of taxpayer money! We could have used bags. I had a number of requests for items on bones. Some of the Resource Center Rolodex cards would have been helpful."

A rack sign saying "Free Publications" would have been clearer.

Suggestions for Future Meetings

Send our Questions & Answers booklets on common skin problems (rosacea, acne, and psoriasis) as well as continuing to send atopic dermatitis (eczema).

Send the Resource Center's publication list and Rolodex cards.

Send more Spanish-language publications.

Send a sign for the rack that says "Free Publications."
